Description: The Fairfax Public Law Library promotes education and justice by providing all citizens with access to legal texts and information. Located in the Fairfax County Courthouse, the library serves the public, judges, county officials and attorneys. The workstations may be used to access online databases for legal materials such as Virginia case and statutory law, Fairfax County and City Codes, and numerous sample legal and litigation forms. Additionally, customers can electronically research all federal and state cases, codes, administrative materials and printed treatise updates. The Library's internet home page assists citizens researching Virginia law by hyperlinking them to legal information such as Virginia Courts published and unpublished decisions, Fairfax County Court information, Virginia Administrative Code, Virginia Code and Virginia Acts. All library services are free, except for printing, copying and faxing costs. As a non-lending institution, there is no need for a library card.
